

Meghan Thatcher Parent & Child Teacher

Waldorf education has played a formative role in Meghans life. Starting in kindergarten, Meghan attended both the Toronto and Halton Waldorf schools until High School. Her passion for both Waldorf education and the works of Rudolph Steiner were ignited during this time and created a foundation that has enriched her life throughout the years.

Meghan has completed her Bachelors of Commerce, but her real passion has always been centred around family, community, handwork, and deepening her understanding of Steiner's teachings. She completed Foundation Studies in Anthroposophy at the Rudolph Steiner Centre in Toronto in 2013. Shortly after completing her Foundations studies she moved with her family to Ottawa where she had the opportunity to homeschool both her children in the Waldorf pedagogy for 7 years. This was a vastly rewarding experience as she led her children through the Waldorf curriculum. Meghan has had the privilege of being involved with many Waldorf School events and programs including multiple Parent and Child programs throughout the years with all her children.

In 2021 Meghan relocated to Edmonton with her family. One of the highlights of the move is being part of a Waldorf community again and having her children attend WISE. She is excited to be helping facilitate some of the parent and child classes as it was such a wonderful time for her with her three children.
